Collectively, KPIT and the Institute shall be referred as BOTH PARTIES.

1.1 Relevance of KPIT PACE: The relevance of industry-academia collaboration envisaged under KPIT PACE can be gauged from the following:

- (a) Present status of automotive software. Software is a major component in automotive systems. As an example, a modern-day car has nearly 150M lines of code, compared to a Boeing 747 with 30M lines of code.
- (b) Expectations from the present workforce. To meet the zero-defect and timely delivery of the complex projects in the automotive domain, it is imperative that employees possess strong engineering fundamentals. To achieve this, it is imperative that there is greater focus on building vocational and technical skills through engaging learning activities and an early exposure to real world projects as part of academic courses.
- (c) Hiring model. The hiring model has to focus equally on skill-evaluation and assessment of knowledge of the potential candidates. Seeing the present trends, there is a requirement to give increasing weightage to open-source software development. Additionally, there should be emphasis on assessing the learnability of the candidates, since technology and tools are ever-evolving.

1.2 Objectives of Cooperation under the new proposed KPIT PACE: The main objective of this MoU is to formally initiate the new Program for Academic Collaboration & Engagement. This initiative will provide a better platform to build a strong and on-going relationship between KPIT and the Institute. The primary goals of KPIT PACE are:

- (a) To develop and foster strategic linkages between the Institute and the Campus Hiring Team and the technical verticals (Practices) at KPIT; and to execute relevant identified activities to meet the needs and expectations of both the parties.
- (b) To offer training-modules / courses of mutual interest to students and jointly issue certificates to them, upon successful completion of the course(s). Competency is a combination of knowledge and skill. Hence, there is greater focus on skill-building over an extended duration through monthly challenges / hackathons, compared to the earlier KPIT PACE engagement.

(c) To collaboratively engage in placement activities, whereby KPIT shall provisionally recruit competent students of final year of BE / B Tech programs of the Institute, depending on the annual need and growth plan of KPIT.

(d) To identify the areas of research and development in Engineering of mutual interest and work on the identified proposals jointly on agreed terms. KPIT will strive for greater engagement of its Engineers and Experts for the benefit of the students and faculty members.

(e) To bridge the gap between academia and industry and contribute to the education eco-system within the colleges and at KPIT. KPIT PACE has a greater focus on the teaching community and faculty to create collaborative mechanisms. KPIT will make all attempts to provide exposure to faculty members in emerging technologies; and offer advice for achieving educational objectives and outcomes of the UG programme. It is also envisaged to take assistance of the faculty members, not only in R&D projects; but also, in the internal training programs (modules) of KPIT for its employees.

(f) To strive for increased cooperation in the recruitment of other categories of students, other than BE / BTech. KPIT shall reach out to the Institute, for suitable engagements for internships as well as hiring for the other category of students, viz. BCS, MCS, BSc/MSc (honours in either one of Comp Science, Maths, Electronics or Physics), Diploma (Circuit and non-circuit branches), ME and MTech... based on the business needs of KPIT. Colleges are requested to share the availability of students, recruitment details and statistics (mean, median, min and max) about the salaries offered by the various companies to the present and past batches. Care shall be taken by KPIT regarding the confidentiality of all data shared by the colleges.

Sec. 2. Proposed KPIT PACE: The focus of KPIT PACE, the main features, overview of the two-year journey from the 5th semester, and the four stages of the proposed KPIT PACE are outlined in this Section and in Figure 1.

It's all about building skills and not just enhancing knowledge

Note: The Lines of Code are representative and not exact expectations mapped against each semester of engagement.

Figure 1: Greater focus on continuous engagement, skill-building and skill-assessment

Sec. 3. Focus of KPIT PACE - Continuous engagement, skill-building and skill-assessment: We notice in Figure 1, that it is proposed to engage with the students from their fifth semester. By way of frequent contests and hackathons, it is envisaged that the students would have written approximately 3,000 lines of code (representative numbers, based on industry experience) in one of the three identified tracks.

This is with the aim of skill-building of the students over an extended duration. The three tracks are:

- Object Oriented Programming (OOP) with C++
- Embedded Systems & C Programming
- Model Based Design with MATLAB®/Simulink®

- Continuous and sustained focus on the three skill-tracks mentioned in the foregoing.
- Frequent connects with industry experts.
- Monthly challenges and frequent Hackathons.
- In the 8th semester, students have an opportunity to participate in KPIT's ab-initio training program for its freshers – Genesis. This gives an opportunity to top-performers for participating in live-projects, immediately upon joining KPIT.
- Opportunity for internships in the 8th semester.
- Campus recreation at the beginning of the 7th semester.
- Conduct of the Automotive Software Engineering Course (ASEC) over two semesters. This would be part of the future scope of KPIT PACE.

3.2 Two-year journey from the 5th semester: Figure 3 shows an overview of the two-year journey, further broken down into four cardinal stages. We see, that there is substantial focus on skill-building via gamification and frequent contests.

(a) Stage 1 - KPIT PACE Foundation: This would span the 5th and 6th semesters for students from all branches of Engineering. KPIT understands that there might be students from branches other than CS / IT, Mechatronics, Electrical Engr, Mechanical Engr or Circuit branches who may have a passion for mobility-related technologies. They are most welcome to be a part of the KPIT PACE Foundation programme. Colleges can carve their own selection strategy to enroll students for this stage. We all understand that good caliber students selected at this stage add to the long-term success of the program at the respective colleges; and colleges are best suited to carry out this selection exercise. KPIT suggests that this selection stage can be aligned with the Campus Selection stage, explained in the succeeding paragraphs.

(b) Stage 2 - Campus Selection: On completion of KPIT PACE Foundation, there would be a Campus Selection stage. The students would be assessed on the following:

- Assessment for the three skill tracks –
 - Object Oriented Programming (OOP) with C++
 - Embedded Systems & C Programming
 - Model-Based Design (MBD) with MATLAB® / Simulink®
- Fundamentals of Engineering Maths – conceptual understanding of mathematical concepts and ability to model mathematically, rather than rote learning or mere solving of problems.
- Knowledge of written and spoken English (equivalent to IELTS 7). KPIT expects the colleges to build this competency early in the academic journey of the students. This will help the students to meet the professional competency expectations during the Selection Process. KPIT, if required, will help the college in defining the required standard.
- Preference would be given to students who possess Foreign Language competency in Japanese (typically N4 / N3 level) and German (typically A2 / B1 level). Colleges are requested to encourage the students in this endeavor. KPIT will identify the top-performers in these languages and offer them part-scholarships during the KPIT PACE Advanced for acquiring higher language competency levels.
- Preference would be given to students who have participated and completed the KPIT PACE-Foundation programme. Hence, it is reiterated that good calibre students are selected by the colleges for entry to Stage-1.

(c) Stage 3 – KPIT PACE Advanced: Upon selection through the Campus Selection stage, the student is eligible for the KPIT PACE-Advanced stage. This would span the 7th and 8th semesters for students from branches of Engineering, which are suitable for KPIT - typically CS / IT, Mechatronics, Electrical Engr, Mechanical Engr or Circuit branches. Further details are indicated in the figure. Please note the following activities in the 8th semester:
